Halifax Grammar School's 40th Anniversary

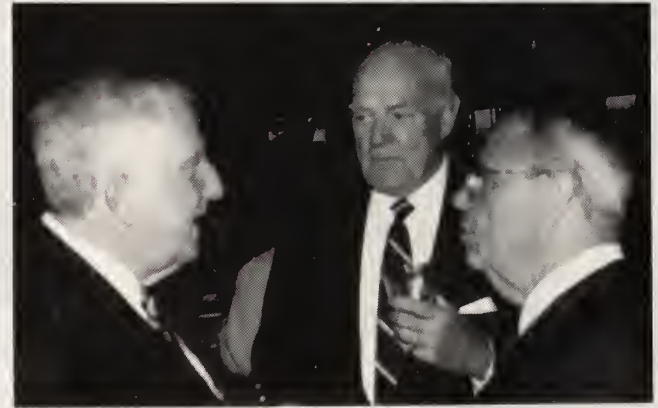

The 40th Anniversary Celebration marks the founding of the School in 1958 when 53 students first attended the school located then on Tower Road. Like most independent schools, HGS has an interesting history full of interesting characters and stories. Many of our current parents are alums of the school. One current parent, Doug Tupper, father of Laura and Roddie Tupper-Ring, was enrolled in 1960 but managed to be among the first graduates by skipping grades one and four. We have graduates who are Rhodes Scholars, university professors, doctors, lawyers, successful entrepreneurs and recent alums, Alice MacLachlan and Ian Caines who have won prestigious scholarships to universities.

P.A.C. and Students

Karla Silver tells the story of a certain Headmaster some twenty years ago when money at HGS was very scarce who decided the staff use of toilet paper was excessive. He required staff to come to his office whenever the supply ran out allowing him to monitor the use and lecture the brave staff emissary on the conservation of school resources. Karla learned where he hid the toilet paper and would, when necessary, slip in to commandeer some. Times then were tough indeed and staff, as they are today, were wonderfully resourceful.

The Anniversary Gala at Pier 22 will see a gathering of over 200 old and young celebrants dining and dancing to the seeing tunes of Johnny Favourite Band. They will have much to celebrate - a memorable past and a bright future.

GRADS

Nazia Aftab

Drink from me, and live forever.

- Anne Rice

I walk on minefields.

- Prodigy

You are all monkeys.

- Anonymous

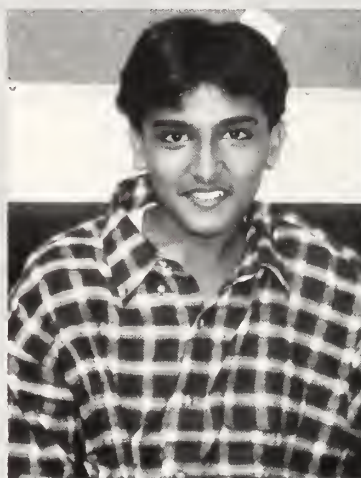

Naz shall forever be remembered for her "monkey" ways and empty threats. Dancing like a psycho; revealing unwanted info about herself; and talking like the "innocent" that she is are all characteristics of our teddy bear friend. Boston saw her yelling out windows; Quebec saw her rolling on the floor laughing like a maniac for 40 minutes straight; and Keji saw her huddled under hundreds of layers of clothes, wearing sock-like gloves. She was often seen gossiping with "Da Girls" in Lawson's office, being artsy in the Art Room, or roaming the streets in her beautiful black baby. Her initial shy-like exterior was quite deceiving. See you in N.Y.C. high society.

P.S. Mystique - M.C. Doop Doop Doop Da Doop Da Doop Doop

Imran Ansari

I came, I saw, I conquered.

- Julius Caesar

Coming from an international school in Saudi Arabia where he was one of the top students in his class and achieved many academic honours, Imran was quick to adapt to the style of teaching by HGS faculty. He managed to make friends and established himself as a member of the HGS community. He showed deep interest in certain sports like basketball and soccer. He is also very fond of computer technology. Wherever he went, he hoped to leave behind a legacy, be it Saudi Arabia or Canada, he shall always be remembered as a good student and a friend.

Frankie came to HGS in grade 11 from Cole Harbour High, claiming to be a member of the Witness Protection Program. She has been a great asset to the basketball, soccer, and track teams; she excels at volleyball and softball and attributes this talent to "small hands". In Quebec, she became the boogie man at night and flicked unidentified objects from the top bunk. We will never forget Frankie's easy going personality and her devious giggle. Good luck in the future. We love ya babe!

Francis Armitage

During Robyn Banerjee's 3 years at the Halifax Grammar School, he has demonstrated the qualities of an exemplary student and scholar. Robyn has actively participated in basketball through high school for the last 2 years, attended both the model UN gathering in Toronto, and Halifax Grammar School's own Commonwealth meeting. Robyn has achieved a high standard at HGS, while still maintaining a lighter side, as demonstrated by his "charming antics". Robyn's self-motivation, energy, and standards of excellence should lead him to a successful post-HGS life.

Robyn Banerjee

Thomas Brooks

Towmahass Brooks just is. Youngest of the renowned Grammar Brooks clan, Thomas has made the early journey from Bedford to HGS every school morning since grade primary and left at the first sight of rain or snow. Known for his remarkable and wholly original style of humour, library of historical movies, passionate defence of all things Britannia; Thomas desires only to exchange his 12 years pin for a discount therapy session. One of the Grammar School's very, very few originals.

Rohan Belliappa

The Philosopher has to be the bad conscience of his age.

-Nietzsche

Aah noh badraha rithuvo yenthu vishvathaaha. (Let noble thoughts come to us from all directions.)

- Sanskrit proverb

You cannot build character and courage by taking away an individuals initiative and independence.

- Lincoln

Congratulations Rohan, looks like we made it! As tennis champion, community activist, leader and consistent honour roll student, Rohan had outdone us all. Still he has that, oh so rare (especially at HGS) love of Schadenfreude- that additional colour & originality that most dependable people lack. An honest and successive member of the student council as first Prefect, Head Prefect then Vp of Finance, Rohan has still made time to ravage his opponents in the console. A remarkable blend of responsibility and mischief!

I came to HGS from South Korea in Grade 9. Then I couldn't appeal English at all but many friends helped me to speak English well...And my favourite sport is basketball so I joined the basketball team but I am not that good of a player. And I hope I'll enjoy the last year of Grammar.

Min Hwui Cho

In only two years at the Grammar school, Stéphane has made his presence felt. Stéphane's individuality combined with an immutable sense of community has made him a unifying force at the Grammar school. His various activities include playing basketball, tennis, rugby, and doing the "real" work for the console. Regardless of his activity, what remains ever apparent in his character is Stéphane's natural integrity, magnanimity, and admirable refusal to be anyone other than who he is. Stéphane does to other as he would have them do unto him. As a result, people taunt and kick him.

Stéphane Condé

Muna Chowdhury

All I ask is for you to accept me, not understand me...

- Original

Life is like playing a violin solo in public and learning the instrument as one goes on.

- Samuel Butler Yeats

My three years at Grammar have definitely been an experience. Debz, Harobedacceberanum should have gone Platinum! Bex, a.k.a. Pappy, I am not a tart! Molly, Y oh Y do we have a communication barrier between us, especially about a certain type of flower? A-L-I-A, whatever you do, DO NOT eat your sweet-peas/munchies. Kelsey, the "Blowing in the Wind" picture didn't turn out too bad. Sarah, us small people did not have a problem fitting into Lawson's office--power to the Shorties!! Naz, you have to shop very carefully for shoes--knowing you, you'll probably buy the MOST EXPENSIVE pair and find out that it doesn't fit.

Class of '99, thanks for making my stay at Grammar a memorable one. I'll miss y'all! ☺

Matthew Cornell

Matt joined the HGS family in Grade 10. His extremely outgoing attitude allowed him to fit in immediately. In the three years that he has spent with us, Matt participated in varsity basketball, and rugby. When Matt wasn't participating in athletics, he could always be found on the sidelines living up to his nickname "Superfan". Matt's main athletic focus however was outside of school as a hockey star for the Halifax Hawks. In spite of all his athletic commitments, Matt still managed to find time to be our VP of Operations and remain a strong academic student. Matt will be remembered at HGS for his up-lifting spirit, the laughter he never failed to create no matter where he was, and as a great friend to all.

In two years what have I managed to accomplish?
 I've developed a few new concepts; chickie schnitzle, chuggle, chemicide, argp, mini version of M.S., M.S.
 skipping, male version of M.M., implosion, scampering freak, conformity, and the list goes on. The dancing band was also an experience. It's been interesting!
 - Squeaky (a.k.a. Debz)

Deborah Croston

Mike has been part of the Halifax Grammar School community for a very long time. His silent presence was felt by all the students in his class. His contributions to the athletic program were invaluable. We'll miss you Mike.

Michael DeGrasse

Kimberly Gallivan

*I count myself in nothing else so happy
 as in a issue
 remembering my good friends.*

- Shakespeare

Kimberly, a.k.a. L'il Kim, is known throughout the school as being vertically challenged. Despite this handicap, Kim's smile has brightened the halls of HGS since Grade 10. She has been involved in tennis, badminton, soccer, and basketball. Kim has the ability to shoot from anywhere on the court. Although Kim is always being teased, she remains cool. Tuka, tuka, tuka. "I don't get it." Advice for the future: Tiger balm cannot be used for everything.

Matthew Furrow

Perhaps best known for his many achievements in the athletic disciplines, Matthew's social life was seldom unenvied by his classmates. Voted "class member most likely to succumb to the satanic influences of Dungeons & Dragons" for an unprecedented six straight years.
 Matthew nevertheless retained his sanity and managed to do passable well in school.

I guess we survived; semi-formals, astroboy, the Spice Girls, biology, even midnight strolls and murderers. We made it through it all: Remind me again, grade 7 or 12? What ever will you do when you go to university, when they look you up and which won't be very far to go! And tell you they don't accept grade 2's? J.J.- I'm sure there's no height restriction (at least you'd better hope there's not.) You're 100% right, I am mean and cruel... so what's new? Good luck, have fun, - show 'em all how to party! See ya around turnip! From you-know-who.

I look forward to seeing her immortalized with the greats. - J.G.

Monkey! - N.A.

Sarah Gilbert

Stephen has over and over again proven his reliability, social prowess and maturity. When asked to summarize his accomplishments and feelings at HGS, Stephen looked deep into his cultural soul: "Education is merely a series of successive gestures." Stephen says "You have to respect others. I enjoyed my education; that is the Key."

Stephen Issekutz

Nicholas Li

Nick is the only person I could (although I fairly bungled it) discuss Political Philosophy and local music in the same conversation. - Before you condemn the first part of that hypothetical conversation (illiterates!) understand, this is a good thing—see, we could make Political Philosophy cool! But that is a testament to Nick. A brilliant orator at Commonwealth (menacing delegates with the threat of nuclear war), and one of the few talented console writers, Nick is the ideal amalgam of enlightened & cool—the intellectual who wears sneakers! - RN

Jason Lindsay

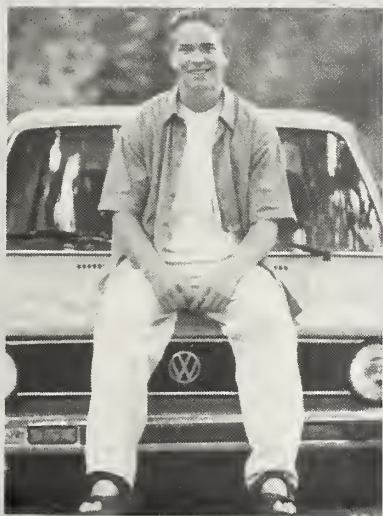

I Drink, therefore I am.
- Eric Idle

When I'm good, I'm very, very good. But when I'm bad, I'm better.
- Mae West

Jason joined us in Grade 5, sporting shoulder length hair and a gold earring. He brought with him the wit and wisdom of Wayne and the fashion sense of Garth. He proceeded to stir the school up. Since then, he's cut his hair (thank God!) and lost the earring. He also abandoned "Wayne's World" attire in favour of high fashion, like khakis and a wife-beater, but he still stirs up the scene either through the Console or on the rugby field. Ever an entertainer, he hopes to pursue a career in film-making and writing. Good luck dog, "Keep it real!!" - a certain bald-headed philosopher.

A long time member of Grammar, Robin has made his mark. Coming to the school in Grade 4 and sticking it out to the end. His high school years have been well spent at the Grammar School. Robin achieved Rookie of the Year after participating on the school's soccer, basketball, track and rugby teams. His athletic contributions to the school have been tremendous. Along with all the sports Robin managed to maintain a good academic status and pursue outside activities. His devotion to working out at Dalplex has allowed him to become the Grammar School stud that he is.

Robin MacLachlan

Shannon, a life long member of S.H.A.G. thought she was the "cat's meow" when she joined our side (HGS) in grade 10. We soon came to know and love all of Shannon's peculiar sayings: "I'm not the sharpest nail in the drawer." She immediately became an integral part of the school, academically, athletically, and socially despite curious effects of the moon on the Cancer sign. Shannon participated in drama, basketball, soccer, tennis, and badminton. Our fondest memories of Shannon came from English Comp. Class when she so eloquently quoted that irony was "like a free ride when you already paid". Fashion tip for the future: Try to wear a classic pant and a nice shoe (especially when Leo is in its 12th moon). We'll miss you Shannie!

When Jon first arrived at the Grammar School in grade 7, no one was sure how he would turn out. To say Jon's junior high days were tumultuous would be correct. However as time passed (and the "Rat Pack" disassembled), Jon began to show his god given intelligence. Well known for his classic American grin and questionable debating skill, Jon seemed to lighten hearts all around him. His quick wit and undying sense of humour will never be forgotten. Jon hopes to one day become one of North America's great attorneys (so give him a call). Good luck Heavy J!

Tom is proof positive that the liberal notion that given enough education, the masses will evolve into responsible and literate individuals, is nothing but an exploded myth. This is not a joke.

You have deep-seated survival anxieties. And you don't like bigots, bullies, snobs or hypocrites. Subconsciously there are many people you hate.

Tom Moir

When not working at school, working at home, or working at, uh, work, Donald enjoys writing, traveling, and doing everything BUT work. But between IB at school, summer jobs, and an acute case of oversleeping, work is pretty much all he has done lately. His future may look bright, but that's what deer on the highway think about headlights.

Today is the tomorrow you worried about yesterday.

Thanks guys it has been a great eight years! Naz: Vache, vache, vache! Remember there's nothing worse than furry, dripping with grease, overcooked meat. Debz: Don't forget our 2 special rules; don't drink the water in the bath tub and never eat food in the tent! Molly: I don't know about you, but I'm the real S.M. Muna: Never forget it will always be US, US, US! Rebecca: Bex! I know, I've got to practice my English accent, just a bit! Sarah: us little, teeny people have to stick together! Kelsey: Don't forget about the He-man shirt!

John Murphy

John Murphy is a helluva nice guy. Playing basketball, John pioneered the greatest defense move of all: grabbing the ball to your chest and falling to the floor. Under his casual everyman exterior lurks the soulful lyricist and guitarist of his band Potassium (so good they'll stop your heart). With musical talent anchored in a firm religious belief, John will lead a clean and healthy lifestyle when he becomes a rock god.

I want words meat-hooked from the living steer.

- Robert Lowell, The Nihilist as Hero

"Norman's" laid back, non-conformist attitude, coupled with his trademark sense of humour, quick wit and sarcasm made him one of the most interesting individuals to be around. With an impressive vocabulary and extensive literary acumen, his outspoken participation in the Commonwealth Simulation, Model United Nations, and his editorship of the "HGS Console" makes him a definitive figure in the class of '99.

Our power of documentation has a monstrous life of its own... It makes form out of particle... as easily as in a long contemplation of experience- more easily fact. It creates out of paper heavy, obdurate permanency. Threats to permanency will come only by way of other bits of paper, a footnote coup d'état.

- Elizabeth Hardwick, Sight Readings

Richard Norman

James Perry

- Samuel Clemens

- Max Lerner

My rules of life, explain anything? All I can say now is, WE MADE IT!

Kelsey came to the Grammar School in grade 10. She quickly assimilated into the Grammar School way of life by playing midfield for our soccer team. In grade 11 she played midfield again as well as joining the Amnesty International group. In both grades she represented our school at the Commonwealth simulation and Model U.N. She was the star of both and when she spoke, all listened! Next year she is planning to study international relations and spend time abroad. Good luck in whatever you aspire to do Kelsey!

Do what you feel in your heart to be right, for you'll be criticized anyway. You'll be damned if you do and damned if you don't.

- Andrew Law

I wonder why man was put on Earth. What's our purpose? Why are we here? Tiger food.

After living the last two years in Florida, Mike has returned to the city of Halifax. Although he pursues his academic career in the Grammar School, his social life is spent with his St. Pat's friends. Mike is a hard-worker who plans to play on the rugby and track and field teams. He also played an important role on Grammar's "prestigious" golf team. Although he is new to this school, he has adjusted very well.

Michael Romkey

Andreas joined the Halifax Grammar School in Grade 11. Although that was his first year in Canada, he has already participated in team sports like soccer and rugby. He came from Germany and quickly learned to adapt to his surroundings and get into the spirit of the school.

Andreas Sauer

Toby Schwartz

Toby came to HGS in grade 10 from Gaetz Brook Jr. High. Even though she is a hick, she's "as cool as dirt". Toby is involved in basketball, soccer, track, volleyball, and drama. She takes pride in carrying on the tradition of Schwartz gas. Toby is willing to lend a helping hand but if you get on her bad side, watch out! She is a master in the art of Sun-Chi. Since her true love lives miles away, she has had difficulty concentrating. Advise for the future: Get an automatic or get off the road!

Molly Seto

Molly Seto is best known for her achievements in swimming for the Halifax Trojans. Although she didn't do much else, she won all of her races for the ACIS swim team. We are all jealous of Molly because she is by far the buffest of anyone in our class. Although frequently asked to flex, Molly still remains modest about her huge muscles. Until you get to know her, she appears to have a quiet exterior, but her friends know better. Molly has also shown her innovative side: remember the Super Bra© and the extendo Q-tip! We'll miss you Molly.

Phil joined HGS community in Grade 10. An IB-Diploma scholarship student, he has managed to maintain an honours average under the many pressures of IB and HGS requirements and deadlines. Between involuntarily pondering life's wonderfully enlightening philosophical questions and teaching himself the remarkably fascinating world of biology, Phil still finds time to entertain and amuse his classmates, whether with his wacky stunts, identical impersonations, wit and humour, constant outbursts of German phrases which not even Germans can understand, or his bewildering magical powers. Viel Glück in der Zukunft...

Alexa has been at HGS for 13 L-O-N-G but memorable years. Her face was never missed on the sports teams, and she was known for her amazing skills on both the soccer and basketball teams. You could never win an argument with Alexa which is probably why she made such a great debater. Her skills extended beyond the boundaries of Grammar--taking her all the way to Ski Martock where she spent her winters teaching snowboarding. Even with her crazy schedule, she always found time to spend with her friends (especially a certain someone!!) Alexa consistently arrived late to homeroom and still managed to make the honour roll without a struggle. She has been an invaluable asset to her class and her school, and we know that wherever life takes her -- success will follow.

We all love you and

we'll miss your presence in Halifax.

PS Never forget Peter.

A black and white portrait of a woman with short, dark, wavy hair. She is smiling and looking directly at the camera. She is wearing a dark, possibly black, jacket or blazer over a dark top. The background is slightly out of focus, showing some architectural elements like a door frame.

*The Grammar School
Uniform*

The class of 1999 is a memorable class for many reasons. It is the last class of the twentieth century. It is the largest graduating class in the history of the School. It is the class that marks the first capital campaign in the school and the first girls provincial soccer title. It is full of multi-talented students, scholars such as Rob Banerjee, Muna Chowdhury, Deborah Croston, Matthew Furrow, Nicholas Li, Alia Mukhida, Kelsey Nearing, Philip Wilkinson; scholar athletes such as Frankie Armitage, Rohan Belliappa, Kim Gallivan, Robin MacLachlan, Shannon McA'Nulty, Toby Schwartz, Molly Seto, Alexa Smith; multi-media artists Rebecca Miles and Nazia Aftab; iconoclasts Richard Norman and Jason Lindsay; and new blood such as Michael Romkey, Imran Ansari to provide spice to the chemistry of this dynamic group. The strength of our Senior Four class is perhaps represented in the fact that twenty plus of their numbers will leave the School with a full International Baccalaureate Diploma. That's quite a benchmark for other classes to follow.

There are plans for a time capsule to be placed in the cornerstone of the capital expansion when it is built in 2001. We would do well on that historic occasion to include the exploits of the last HGS graduating class of the twentieth century.

We wish them well in all their pursuits in the new millennium and I for one will follow their individual careers with great interest.

John Messenger
Headmaster

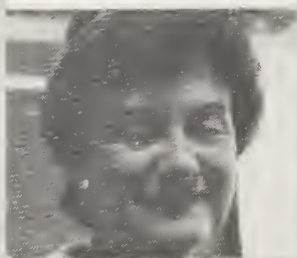

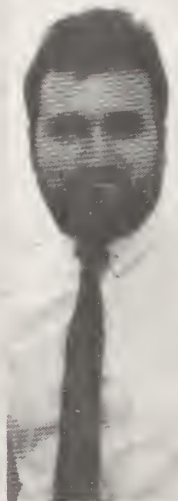

The Grammarian '99 honours those who have been an integral part of the Grammar School since 1988. We thank you for dedicating over a decade of your life to HGS. You have made our School what it is today.

...And so concludes the Grammarian '99. A work that has taken hours and hours of labour on the part of the editors (...us). We must say, it was definitely an interesting experience.... a very interesting experience. No seriously, we had tremendous fun cutting and pasting endless photographs. But, we have grown to love our final product and hope that others will enjoy the little quirks that we couldn't resist adding. We also tried to leave a legacy by adding a few new things, like the Superlatives, and by reintroducing sections that have been forgotten, like the Fine Arts. We regret that we had to neglect the Trips section, but we felt it would be unfair to cover some trips while we were unable to cover the ones that took place after our final deadline. We strove for perfection throughout the year and hope that unintended errors are forgiven. The 40th Anniversary of HGS marked the introduction of the Middle School building and the new uniform and we intended the Yearbook to reflect those memories of the past as well as those that represent the beginning of a new future for HGS. Thus, our dedication honours those who have dedicated a significant part of their lives to the forming of this school and who remain with the school as it takes its first steps into the millennium. Finally, we would like to thank those who helped us along the way: the teachers for being supportive, helpful, and cooperative (...Ms. Efimov); Ms. Silverman for always allowing us to snoop through her pictures; Toby Schwartz, Robin MacLachlan, and Kim Gallivan for taking the weight of the sports section off our shoulders and for handling all of it; and most importantly Ms. Silver for being the most amazing Yearbook Supervisor and for putting up with... us. Hope you enjoy The Grammarian '99.
